

Contents

In this issue	3
Group strength, accountability and growth under dictatorship	5
Abel Escribà-Folch
Public support for liberal democracy	23
Peter Kotzian
The autonomy of globalizing states: bridging the gap between democratic theory and international political economy	43
Hans Agné
Perceived partisan heterogeneity in communication networks and changes in party choice in a national election: evidence from Taiwan	61
Frank C.S. Liu
Examining private and public provision in Canada's provincial healthcare systems: comparing Ontario and Quebec	79
Howard A Palley, Marie-Pascale Pomey, Pierre-Gerlier Forest
Political philosophy in political science: sixty years on Part II: current features of contemporary political philosophy	95
Jean Leca
Abstracts in French and Spanish	115